Quarterly Overview

The Covid-19 pandemic continues to hamper operations & planning with a lot of changes in PHO orders and restricted abilities for training & racing. A few athletes were able to take advantage of some limited racing opportunities this quarter, the most notable performance being Ben Preisner’s marathon debut of 2:10:17. This makes him 4th fastest Canadian all-time and is well under the Athletics Canada Olympic selection standard of 2:11:30 for Tokyo 2021. It also means he has met the selection standard for the 2022 World Championships.

Aside from that one highlight things continue to be a struggle, as I’m sure they are for many. Hopefully things will turn for the positive by spring but for now it’s a long hard winter of training ahead.
